U. S. DEMANDS PACIFIC ISLES WON BY BLOOD

Pronouncement Throws U. N. Assembly Into Tailspin; Fight Anticipated.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(INS)—Pronouncement by the United States that she will either take over control of Pacific islands, won in bloody beachhead battles, under a United Nations "strategic" trusteeship, or hold them regardless, threw the UN general assembly into a momentary tailspin today.

The 51-member world body had planned a plenary session for this morning. Last night, after America's "take-it-or-leave-it" policy on key bases in the Pacific, the full meeting was postponed for 24 hours until Saturday.

Islands involved included the Gilberts, Carolines and Marianas, with future consideration of Iwo Jima and Okinawa which paved the last step in the defeat of Japan.

Opposition Strong.

Opposition to the decision of the United States unquestionably was going to be strenuous—particularly from Soviet Russia and her satellites, the so-called Arab league, and possibly others.

Nevertheless, basing action on the old philosophy that "possession is nine points of the law," the United States intends to continue to maintain military bases

Australia Backs U. S. Island Plan

CANBERRA—(UP)—Dr. Herbert Evatt, minister of external affairs, announced today that Australia would welcome a United States trusteeship over the Caroline and Marshall Islands and American fortification of the islands for Pacific security.

on these islands as it sees fit, and furthermore to keep them away from inspection from other powers except for control of atomic energy. In the latter instance, inspection would be permitted only if the other world governments joined in adhering to a multi-lateral treaty.

President Truman, from Washington, first announced America's determination to retain the whip-handle in the Pacific.

Then, after close consultation, the American delegation put forward what admittedly was a very novel interpretation of the United Nations charter on the subject.

John Foster Dulles, a lawyer of note, was selected to argue the matter before the UN trusteeship committee. It was highly technical and legally involved, but gist of it was that the United States was determined to retain control of these islands, including Kwajalein, Saipan, Tinian, Truk, Palau and others regardless.

PRICE CONTROLS ALL TOTTERING

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The administration is getting ready to junk virtually all remaining price and wage controls—and it was learned today that OPA Chief Paul Porter plans to resign.

Only a final okay from President Truman was reported necessary to strip away all remaining price ceilings except those on rents, sugar, syrups and rice. Many other wartime controls such as those on wages are expected to disappear at the same time.

Friends of Porter said he hoped the White House decision "could come quickly."

They added that as soon as it was announced Porter would go to the White House for a private talk with President Truman and offer his resignation.

Porter was drafted from the chairmanship of the federal communications commission early in the war to serve in a number of key agencies. He took over the OPA when former Administrator Bowles resigned last June.

Bogus Pepper's Newest Racket

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The government said today that it is investigating the newest thing in rackets—bogus pepper—and expects to wipe it out soon.

The federal food and drug administration said it is cooperating with local authorities in several states to stamp out a shortage-born racket of selling imitation pepper as the real thing.

Band Bids for Public Backing on Eve of 25th Anniversary

Tomorrow you'll have a chance to help the second oldest high school band in Ohio celebrate its coming 25th anniversary.

That's right—it's YOU band. Mansfield's Senior high school band was organized in January, 1922. Only Fostoria had a high school band before that.

Now with their anniversary just two months away, band members are looking forward to having some "sharp" new uniforms. The present uniforms are six years old. The new ones will be gold jackets with black trousers, and of military cut.

Actually, the uniforms are already ordered from the C. E. Ward company of New London. They had to be ordered now if the band was to get them in time for next year.

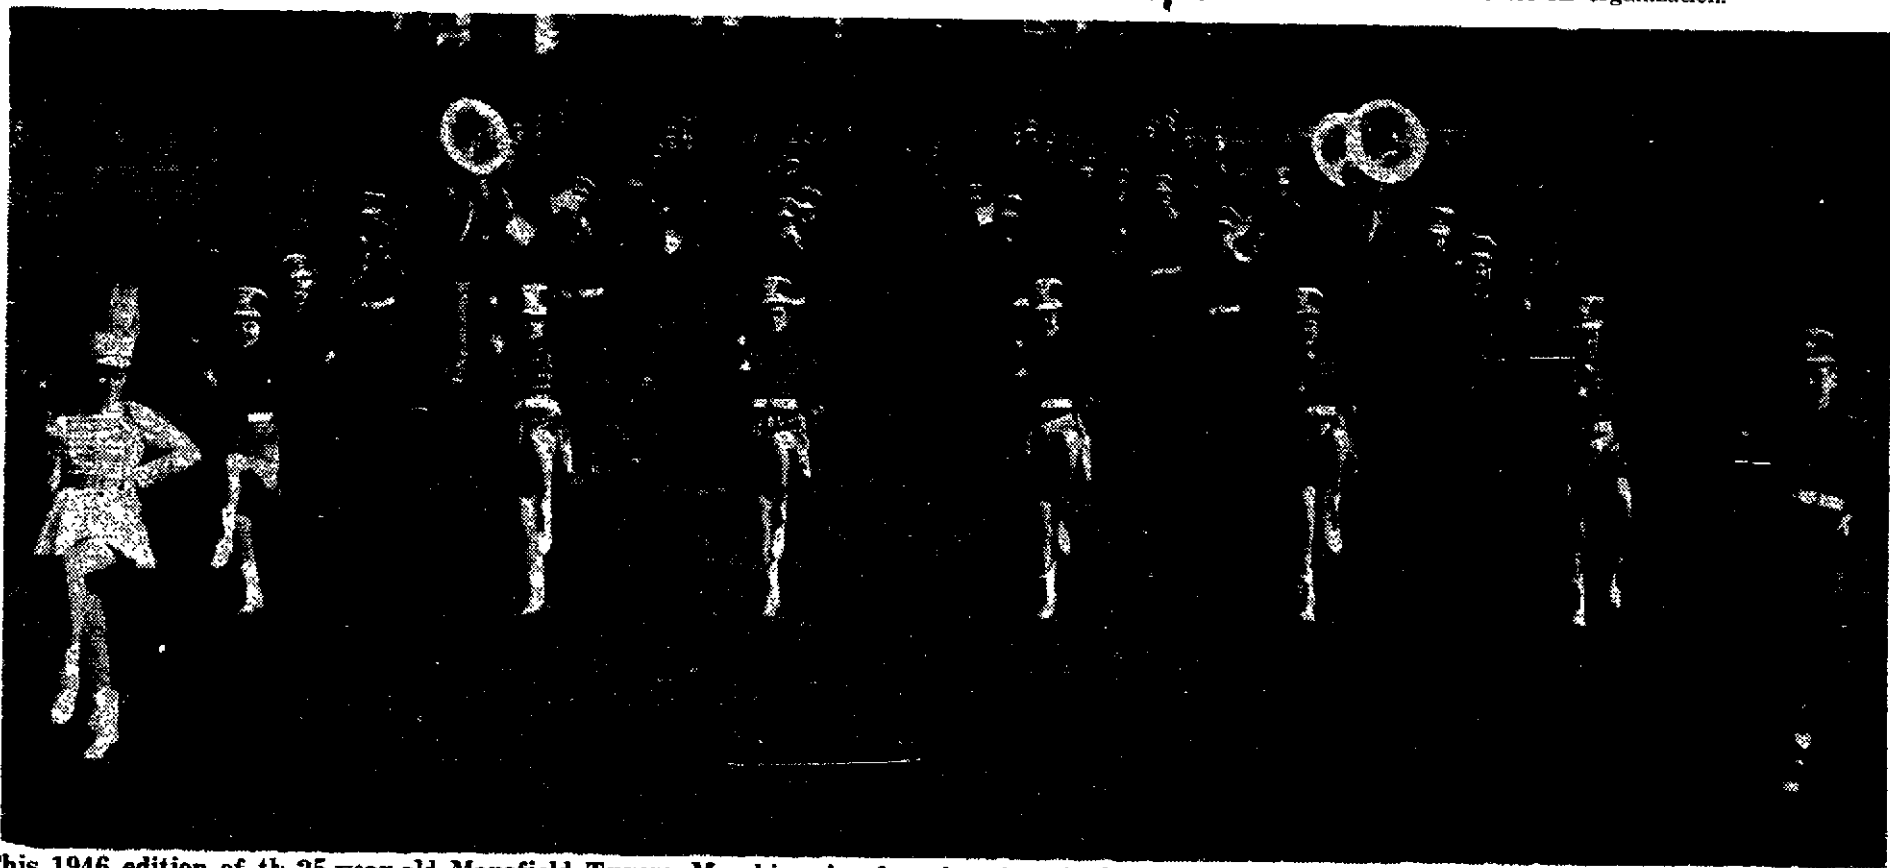

But the new uniforms are a long way from being paid for. Not counting uniforms for the majorettes and director, which will be ordered later when white materials are available, the 70 on order now will cost $3,009.50.

And that's where YOU come in. Tomorrow the Band Parents club will stage its annual tag day to raise funds for the uniforms. The tag day has been approved by the Public Appeals Review board. It is the only way the club has of obtaining money. The Athletic association has refused to provide funds and concessions are not available to the club, according to officials.

Band trips to Portsmouth and Toledo have been sponsored this year by the Tyger club and the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

The band has been under the direction of J. Merton Holcombe ever since its organization.

Pastors Battling Vice Seek Governor's Aid

STUEBENVILLE—A dom Protestant pastors seeking authority to "smash the vice centers" in this Ohio river city of 40,000 decided today to appeal to Gov. Frank J. Lausche for an investigation here.

The ministers want to know who owns the buildings where they contend, gambling, slot machines, organized vice and policy rackets operate openly. Dr. Norma E. Nygaard, their spokesman said.

The decision to appeal to Lausche followed the appearance of eight of the ministers before city council meeting in special session last night to consider the group's request for police power to raid establishments.

The Rev. Robert Russell, 35, opened the meeting by asking the council if they were "satisfied with the so-called law-enforcement officials of Steubenville" and if they "wanted the cheaters, racketeers and corrupt city officials brought to justice?"

The crowd roared approval but the council was silent.

Council referred the question to Mayor George W. Floto, City Director Alfred Schaefer, City Solicitor William J. Weinmann and council's safety committee after the ministers agreed to operate as a "sledge hammer vice patrol" under the safety director.

Previously, the pastors sought the right to work under two prominent judges instead of city officials, if they chose, but City Solicitor Weinmann said this would be contrary to the Ohio code.

Following the council session, Safety Director Schaefer privately told a newsman he had no plans for appointing special police deputies.

From the council floor, Nygaard and other ministers asserted Steubenville police were "negligent and crooked" and the city administration shot with "graft."

Councilman Arthur Gorman asserted "nothing is wrong with the police in Steubenville. There has always been gambling and there always will be. The city is no better and no worse than it was 25 years ago."

Approximately 400 persons crowded in the council chamber, which seats only 100.

AIR CORPS REVEALS 3 PLANES MISSING

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The Army Air Force announced today that 23 men are missing on three flights at widely separated overseas points.

The AAF said that a C-46 Commando took off from Nichols field, Manila, on Oct. 24 for Peleliu island in the Pacific and is unreported. The other two missing planes are:

A Boeing B-17 Flying Fortress which took off Nov. 1 from Cebu airfield, Manila, Italy, for England, and a Douglas C-47 Sky Train which took off from Vernian field, Jamaica, on Nov. 2 for San Juan, Puerto Rico.

SEEKS LEASE ON PROPERTY AT NEW PORT

James R. (Bud) Harrington, manager of the city's new airport and head of Great Lakes Airlines, today asked the city for a lease on a strip of ground west of the Sky club as a site for hangars, one to serve as a service station for planes.

Harrington's request was contained in a letter to Service-Safety Director W. W. Enlow who said the letter would be submitted to council.

Harrington said he proposed to build several "T-type" personal hangars and one larger hangar on the site. He holds a contract for furnishing gas and oil for planes using the new airport and for providing a waiting room for passengers using the port.

The area designated by Harrington for lease begins at the center of the Old Church road and extends 685 feet along the fence. It would be 75 feet wide, touching the southwest taxi-strip.

Harrington asked that prompt attention be given the request in view of the fact that the Great Lakes Airlines has been recommended for a license to operate commercial passenger service through Mansfield.

U. S. BREAKS WITH ALBANIA It's Confusin' But Amusin' For Other 'Bob'

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The United States has given up its hopeless efforts to find a basis for recognizing Albania and withdrawing its political mission to that country, the state department announced today.

The department said the Albanian regime of Premier Enver Hoxha has refused to recognize treaties made between the United States and the pre-war regime of King Zog.

The treaties concerned only "such customary subjects as arbitration and conciliation, naturalization, extradition and most favored nation treatment," the state department said.

"In view of the continued unwillingness of the present Albanian regime to assume these commitments and obligations... the U. S. government has concluded that the American mission can no longer serve any useful purpose by remaining in Albania," it added.

The department said that this country's decision was conveyed to Hoxha by George D. Henderson, acting American representative in the Albanian capital, Tirana, in a letter dated Nov. 5.

RADIO FACES STRIKE

(By Associated Press)
A strike involving some of the biggest names in radio was threatened today. The Hollywood chapter of the American Federation of Radio Artists unanimously authorized the national board to call a strike unless the four major radio networks agreed to new contracts.

State Legislature Has Hodgepodge of Talent

COLUMBUS—(INS)—It takes all kinds of people to make up a state legislature, but the 97th Ohio general assembly will—as usual—be dominated by lawyers.

Exactly half of the Ohio senate's 36 members will be attorneys when the gavel falls next January. An even 40 of the 139 house members will be lawyers.

That's not counting one law student who hasn't yet been entitled to hang out his shingle.

In the supposedly more exclusive senate, there are also three brokers, two manufacturers, and two men who are retired. The fourth estate can also lay claim to a pair of senators, one of whom lists himself as a publisher and the other as a political writer and editor.

The other nine members of the senate list themselves as a minister, a merchant, a farmer (paradoxically, a "farm manager"), an oil producer, a railroad conductor, a fraternal organizer, a salesman and a property manager.

As is proper in the rurally-dominated house of representatives, the next strongest occupational group numerically is the farmer, with 18 representatives listing themselves as tillers of the soil.

There are five housewives listed as "home managers," and seven salesmen on the house roster, also two real estate brokers, two insurance brokers, two men who dabble in both and one printer.

There are 11 merchants, including an importer, a dry cleaner, a monument dealer, a lumber dealer.

BEDRIDDEN 20 YEARS, SHE CAN STILL SMILE ON 78TH BIRTHDAY

By NITA BRANSON

Mrs. Nora K. Rowe, 230 Westbrook avenue, is 78 years old today.

Having a 78th birthday is not unusual, but it is unusual that Mrs. Rowe must spend it in bed where she has observed birthdays for the past 20 years and can still be cheerful about it.

She has kept her charming smile since the days when she was active enough to keep house for her family of seven and still find time to engage in church work.

Mrs. Rowe is the wife of C. W. Rowe, former superintendent of the Ohio State reformatory. Her arthritic condition developed 30 years ago following a household accident and is a tragic reminder of the results of what such accidents may bring.

Mrs. Rowe was washing windows in a small porch on the second floor of her home, then on West Third street when the stepladder buckled and threw her to a stone sidewalk. In falling, her fingers were twisted and her spine was injured. That was the beginning of her illness.

"We took her to Magnetic Springs and gave her every kind of medical attention we could find," her husband said, "but nothing seemed to help."

The first years were doubly difficult because of the pain, but it has subsided to a great extent, Mrs. Rowe said. Now she is able to sleep well, enjoys listening to the radio, and can even turn over the pages of a newspaper, although her hands are too crippled to handle a heavy book.

She rests in her bed, half propped up with pillows, and laughs and talks with her friends.

CHINA'S CHIEF MAKES FINAL PEACE EFFORT

Communists Agree to Cease Fighting, List 10 Major Demands.

NANKING—(UP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek today ordered government troops to "cease fire" except as necessary to defend present Nationalist positions in China and Manchuria.

Chiang said the order, which presumably will halt all Nationalist advances, was a "final effort" to achieve peace.

The "cease fire" order came as government troops reportedly had penetrated to the heart of Chefoo, Communist-held port on Shantung peninsula. Communist forces were said to be defending the city against strong Nationalist attacks.

Other Communist troops were reported attacking at Pingtu and Anchiu, near the United States naval anchorage at Tsingtao. Both cities are close to the important Tsinan-Tsingtao railway, which the Communists were seeking to cut in an effort to halt the Nationalist advance on Chefoo.

10-Point Program.

Shanghai dispatches, meanwhile, said the newspaper Ta Kung Pao had listed a 10-point Communist program for settling China's civil difficulties. The report said the Communists had agreed on nine other demands in addition to issuance of a "cease fire" order.

Hu Lin, publisher of the newspaper which has been close to Chiang Kai-shek, took part in recent peace talks. Lin said the "most reliable sources" had outlined the Communists' demands as:

1. A cease fire order in which troops, will arrange neutral zones on all fronts.

2. Reconvening of Gen. George C. Marshall's "committee of three" to discuss garrison areas and demobilization.

3. Restoration of communications.

4. Strengthened authority of the American section of executive (peace) headquarters at Peiping.

5. Reorganization of the state council and the executive Yuan.

6. Revision of the draft of the constitution according to the political consultative council (PCC) resolutions. Revision to be carried out by the PCC constitution committee and all participating parties with assurance that the revised version will be approved by the national assembly.

7. Settlement of the question of local administration in China proper and Manchuria, according to PCC resolutions.

8. Distribution of the number of national assembly delegates and the date of the assembly to be decided by the PCC steering committee.

9. Submission of all lists of national assembly delegates to a reorganized government.

10. Release of all political prisoners and enforcement of Chiang's four promises assuring personal liberty for Communists and lifting the ban on all publications and public bodies.

STORES STAY OPEN MONDAY

Most public offices and schools in Mansfield and Richland county will close Monday in observance of Armistice day, but Mansfield stores are expected to remain open for business. Industrial plants also are expected to maintain production schedules.

The city building and the courthouse will be closed all day as will all city and county schools, with the exception of Union rural schools. The Union schools will be open because of a holiday taken during the Ashland fair which must be made up, the county superintendent's office said.

The Mansfield post office will be closed for the day with the exception of the inquiry window which will be open from 7 a. m. until 12 noon.

The Veterans' Administration office and the Veterans' Information center will be closed all day.

The board of directors of the Retail Merchants association has recommended that former service men and women in retail establishments be given time off from 10:45 to 11:15 a. m., to attend memorial services in Central park. Action was left to the option of the individual merchant. The RMA also recommended that customary two minutes of silence be observed in all stores at 11 a. m.

NEW YORK—Throughout "The Iceman Cometh," a play, I think, although Eugene O'Neill may have meant it as a hoax, I was thinking that Miss Sally Wilson, of Washington, handled the same general idea better when, at the age of eight, she wrote one, and unfinished at that, called "Grandmother Has Gone to the Bar."

Grandmother was an old house who said "hus" instead of the conventional "he," a modern form since adopted by shameless plagiarists, and there was an offstage mystery woman, the mother of clover, and brother, the children of the piece, who had wandered of the night the big gas-tank busted in Gayton and just kept on going. Sally Wilson never accounted for her and that was why she considered that her play was unfinished.

But I think that, in view of the liberty that O'Neill, the master, takes in "The Iceman," she was too exacting. His play never even starts. And, after five hours of hesperus recitations by a team of character men and a trio of schoolgirl types giving hearsay impressions of fallen women of the period of 1912, I left the opera house feeling like a man who has put in three weeks on a hung jury in a civil suit about a real estate title, and wandered up to the box-office to demand my pay. They didn't even buy our dinner during the recess after the first act, which starts at 5:30, but they didn't lock us up for the night to fight it out, so an optimist might say it could have been worse. But I am no optimist and that isn't what I say.

HERE IS A PLAY, or anyway.

WASHINGTON—(U)—For hire: One police force, complete with 164 cops in blue coats with brass badges; no experience in catching safe crackers, but willing to learn.

This ad, which I am running free for the benefit of my friends of the Capitol police, indicates that political jobs can't last forever. These cops are polite. They are kind to old ladies. If they must bowl out a motorist on the Capitol grounds they smile. Even when they eject hysterical female lobbyists from senatorial hearings, they are gentle about it.

The trouble with 'em is that they are Dem.—ats. They will be fired on January 3, or as soon thereafter as the Republicans can get around to it. Few, if any, will remain. There is no place for Dem.—ats (a word I fear to spell out in full) henceforth on the hill.

Even the page boys are going to feel the axe. Numerous lanky 17-year-olds with Dem.—atic forebears on the senate floor no longer will be forced to wear knee breeches and long black cotton stockings. They'll be replaced by Republican youngsters at $5 a day to lug ice water to speech-making senators with cottony mouths. Those long stockings are hard to find in a haberdashery; the incumbents gladly will sell them to their successors.

THERE ARE 21 pages in the funny pants in the senate and 50 more (who wear any old kind of trousers) in the house. How many will lose their jobs will not be certain until the Republicans decide how much patronage (and it won't be much) they'll leave those Dem.—ats.

Some old timers around the Capitol, who know their jobs better than anyone else, will remain on the payroll. These include the

'Dry' Voters Win In Fredericktown

It soon will be a long dry ride to points south via State Route 13 through Fredericktown where voters Tuesday voted 439 to 354 to prohibit the sale of liquor by the glass. They also frowned on sale of wine by package or by drink, but approved sale of 3.2 beer by a vote of 369 to 355.

The sale of beer and liquor in Fredericktown will be stopped when the state liquor control department orders cancellation of permits. Prosecutor W. Thurman Todd said.

Kiwanis Speaker Sees U. N. Veto as 'Wise Provision'

The veto power, center of controversy in the United Nations organization, was described as a "pretty wise provision" yesterday by Prof. E. I. F. Williams, head of the department of education, of Heidelberg college.

Speaking before the Mansfield Kiwanis club, Williams said, "I believe that the veto was a pretty wise provision. Without it there would have been no United Nations as we made very clear at Dubarton Oaks."

Noting the apparent struggle through which the U. N. is going, Williams reminded his listeners "of the critical period of American history following the American

Three other men were held under $1,500 bonds each after they pleaded innocent to a charge of opening a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. They told police they were William B. Kuikel, John DeSanto, Rocco John Restagno.

Officers said they allegedly stole a 1941 model car owned by H. E. Stonebrook last Tuesday on North Diamond street. They were apprehended a short time later and the car was recovered, police said.

Everett Donough, jr., Mansfield, R. D. 5, was fined $10 and costs after he was found guilty of passing a school bus while it was discharging passengers.

A number of vaudeville acts will be included on the program and there will be a demonstration entitled "Rubber Magic," presented by L. M. Baker of the technical division.

Born in Ashland county, March 2, 1872, Mr. Leinard had spent the greater part of his life in Mansfield. For 27 years he had been employed at the Ideal Electric company.

Surviving are one son, Glenn J., and one daughter, Mrs. Bernice Young both of Mansfield; two sisters, Mrs. Clara Troupe of Mansfield, and Mrs. Nellie Reeder of Toledo, and one grandson, Wilbur Ward.

The body is at the Wapner funeral home where services will be held Saturday at 1 p. m., in charge of Rev. James E. Davey, pastor of the Grace Gospel church. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

BOY NEEDS HOME—

A 15-year-old boy, called "likeable, quite personable, and of superior intelligence," is now a ward of Richland county's juvenile court, is badly in need of a foster home, court authorities said today.

The youth, Juvenile Officer Ralph Carroll said, has not been able to "get along" with the couple who adopted him and a farm home is desired. Studied by experts of the Bureau of Juvenile Research at Columbus, the boy, who is big and strong for his age and is a member of a Boy Scout troop, has something of an artistic temperament, it was said. "His main interest is in art work in which he is clever in design and skilled in 'color,'" the BJR report said. Carroll said he would like parties interested in providing the boy with a home to call him at the juvenile court, 1318-6.

WIDOW'S SHARE—

A widow, in 1902, could have, as her legal right, no more than one cow, 12 sheep, or one family sewing machine as her inalienable share of her husband's estate. Those facts, along with some other oddities, were revealed in an old legal paper of which probate court deputies were asked to make a copy recently. While the widow's share in her husband's estate is set up in a complicated system of percentages of the total value today, 44 years ago her part of the worldly goods left by her husband were itemized specifically in administration papers. Besides those mentioned above, other items a widow could have included: all spinning wheels, all weaving looms, all stoves, the Family Bible and pictures and books, the wool shorn from the sheep and the yarn and cloth manufactured by the family, all flax, one clock, and one side saddle.

BABY'S GOT SHOE AGAIN—

The little kiddie's shoe reported as seeking its owner yesterday is now back on the little foot from which it strayed. The child's parent came to Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford's office yesterday after seeing the UP and Down item about the shoe.

It seems the little fellow who lost it had been for a ride in his stroller. In his exuberance he kicked off the shoe without anyone noticing it. A passerby placed it on the mail box and Ford returned it to the parents without learning their names.

HIS BOAST IS MUDDIED—

W. G. McCready, president of the Richland County Thirty-second Degree club, a Masonic organization, stuck his neck out last night—and consequently got his car stuck in the mud.

McCready, while passing through Shelby on his way to a club meeting at the Parsell Air depot, was required to detour a block or two, and told his two passengers, W. O. Gray and Bill Barnes, both of Mansfield, that he "knew his way around Shelby." He then proceeded not only to get lost, but his car became stuck in a mud-bank. Arriving at the meeting 40 minutes late, "Mac" received no end of good-natured razzing.

PRESENTS BIBLE, BELL TO AMVETS

The Robert P. Spreng Amvet Post 26 was presented with a Bible and bell last night at its meeting in the Memorial building.

Presentation of the Bible was made by Charles Prosser, who is making similar presentations to other veterans' organizations in the county from a balance of funds remaining after the Crestline canteen was closed.

Viola Baer reported on the progress of the Blood Donor committee and Elden Becker reported on the housing committee's discussions with the county commissioners in an effort to speed construction of the county housing project.

Becker reported that the commissioners said a Mansfield contractor had quoted them a price of $6,800 for a four-room prefabricated house.

The date for the Amvet Harvest dance was announced as Nov. 29 with Sperm Karos orchestra to furnish the music at the Grotto hall.

Members discussed a proposal to hold one meeting each month on Sunday to give second truck workers an opportunity to attend. The suggestion was referred to the legislative committee.

An open house will be held at the next meeting Nov. 21 when the McVey post, American Legion will present colors to the Amvets.

Other officers installed were: Fred Atwater, senior vice commander; Mose Eubanks, junior vice commander; Samuel Davis, adjutant; Chris Dye, finance officer; Richard Jones, chaplain; Charles Jarrett, sr., sergeant-at-arms; and Emory Mapp and Robert Black, color bearers.

Installing officer was Ralph Hughes, past commander of the McVey post.

John A. Leinard, 74, Trimble road, died Thursday at General hospital after a brief illness.

Born in Ashland county, March 2, 1872, Mr. Leinard had spent the greater part of his life in Mansfield. For 27 years he had been employed at the Ideal Electric company.

Surviving are one son, Glenn J., and one daughter, Mrs. Bernice Young both of Mansfield; two sisters, Mrs. Clara Troupe of Mansfield, and Mrs. Nellie Reeder of Toledo, and one grandson, Wilbur Ward.

The body is at the Wapner funeral home where services will be held Saturday at 1 p. m., in charge of Rev. James E. Davey, pastor of the Grace Gospel church. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Grotto to Hold Dance

Baku Grotto's third autumn dance will be held to the music of Oscar Fensch's orchestra in Grotto hall from 9:30 p. m. to 12:30 a. m. tonight. All Grotto members were asked to bring Masonic guests to the affair.

Saturday night the Grotto will stage, in its hall, its annual stag fish fry. Entertainment will be provided. The affair will begin at 7 p. m.

Cuff Stuff On Tyger
Crowds, Statistics;
Grid Prognostication
By Fred Tharp

THAT MANSFIELD has a place in the post war sports boom has been shown conclusively by the way that football fanatics have jammed Stadium field this season. In all home games to date, all available seats were taken and standing room has been a premium. The greatest example of the latter was in the Massillon game where approximately 3,000 Tyger pigskin followers watched the conflict—standing.

Crowds watching Paul Snyder's 1946 club have been the largest in Tyger athletic history and tonight's fuss should draw more than 6,000. Here's the official record of the Mansfield crowds (paid attendance only): Marion, 6,666; Sandusky, 6,657; Cleveland East, 6,426; and Massillon, 8,793. And all of this in a stadium with only 4,000 permanent seats.

Small wonder that Dr. D. A. Weir and his citizens' committee are trying to raise $150,000 for the completion of the new high school athletic plant. Six thousand seats are assured for the 1947 campaign and if the fans' ticket-for-interest campaign is successful there will be room for 12,000. The 12,000 seats will undoubtedly be needed as untold hundreds of fans stay away from Stadium field because of the crowded conditions now existing.

The plan gives each person purchasing a $500 bond two free seats in a preferred location for the tenure of his note and the perogative of purchasing two adjoining seats. Approximately 70 bonds have been sold and another 230 must be sold to make the venture a success.

ADDITIONAL PROOF that statistics mean little in a football game was shown last week at Toledo. Mansfield's Tyger gridgers had nine first downs to Waite's five and had the bulge in net yardage, 198 to 125. Yet Waite won, 32-7.

Added to Waite's 125 yards, of course, was that sparkling 85 yard kickoff return and the punt return of 33 yards—both for TD's. Those two scores and a couple on running plays were made possible when Mansfield flankers were "suckered" out of the play.

In fact Waite's vaunted running attack could not match the yardage rolled up by Massillon and Canton Timken. Massillon got 217 against the tough Tyger line, Timken, 160 and Waite only 132. Tyger opponents have made 949 yards on the ground, 371 in the air and have lost 110.

Mansfield's ground attack has eaten up 1,732 yards and aerials have clicked for 372 yards. The Tygers have lost 140.

From tackle to tackle the Bengals have permitted only 377 yards on 160 excursions, an average of 2.35. Outside the tackles the figure is 462 yards on 119 carries, an average of 3.89.

HOW LONG can Johnny Lujack last against the Army? That's the question that's bothering loyal Notre Dame alumnus and millions of other grid fanatics throughout the country. For Lujack above all others has the fate of the Army-Notre Dame clash tomorrow in his hands. Right now it appears that he will be able to go but the bum ankle may affect his terrific punting, something that many experts have overlooked.

A bad punt might offset any advantage that Lujack's superb ball-handling and passing might bring. Frank Leahy still says that Army will win by two touchdowns while another expert—Sid Luckman, Chicago Bears—who helps tutor Lujack and the ND backs, picks the Irish. This corner strings along with the champion Cadets—what with Davis, Blanchard and Tucker ready—to win, 20-14.

USING THAT worn out copper here's how tomorrow's games will go (I hope):

EAST
Army over Notre Dame; Penn over Columbia; Cornell over Syracuse; Princeton over Virginia; Delaware over Bucknell; Yale over Brown; Boston College over George town; Harvard over Dartmouth; Holy Cross over Colgate; Penn State over Temple; Rutgers over Lafayette; West Virginia over Fordham.

(Last week: 43 right, 14 wrong, two ties. Season's record, 263 right, 50 wrong, 13 ties.)

Veterans Ralph Majors and Ray Beard will lead the Mansfield Senior high footballers in their final home appearance of the season tonight against Youngstown Rayen at Stadium field at 8 o'clock.

Majors, the Tygers leading ground gainer, and Beard, the handy man of the club, were elected co-captains for the homecoming clash. Beard has played end, tackle and fullback this season but will take over a starting tackle spot tonight.

Dave Boals and Bob Roney, regular tackles, are still suffering from injuries received at Toledo last week. Boals might see some action but Coach Paul Snyder plans to keep Roney out of the lineup. Dick Logan, 190-pound junior, will replace Roney.

BEARD MAJORS

Queen Betty Long and the crack Tyger marching band will provide the color in the annual homecoming festivities. Queen Betty was scheduled to be presented with her attendants at a giant pep rally this afternoon and will make her appearance just before game time tonight.

Otto Schmidt, former Mansfield athlete, will present a four-minute act on the portable trampoline during the half-time intermission.

Youngstown Rayen, a team that found itself for the first time last Friday, is planning to shoot the works at the Bengals. Rayen uses every offensive formation in the books with the exception of double-wing and can toss the pigskin around on lateral and forward passes.

Rayen bopped Youngstown South, 24-6, last Friday. Penn, wing-back, is the visitors' top threat while big Fred Reali usually turns in a whale of a game at center.

In addition to starting Beard and Logan, Snyder will open with Harold Amshbaugh at end in place of Jim Stinson. Al Henke gets the call at the other terminal post with Soph Bernie Weaver due for plenty of work.

Bill McKee, with help from Harry Osburn, will handle the full-back chores with Ollie Cline, Majors and Ross Frisbee rounding out the first quartet. The tygers are planning to take to the air more frequently with Cline and Majors throwing.

Final drill yesterday was rained out.

George Sherman, Tyger ticket manager, announced this morning that there would be plenty of seats available tonight. With chairs and temporary bleachers the Bengal plant can hold 6,300. Tickets windows will open tonight at 6:30. Seats will go for $1.00.

Lujack's Ankle Sprain—Topic Of Discussion for Millions

By CHARLES EINHORN

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(INS)—The talents of a modern young medicine man dictated the hopes, the fortunes, and even the very roster of Notre Dame football players en route today from South Bend for their crucial battle with Army.

Dr. Joseph Caton, University of Notre Dame physician, virtually did the impossible.

Johnny Lujack, star Irish quarterback, had sprained his ankle to the extent of an inch-and-a-quarter swelling. This was at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday.

At 10:30 a. m., Thursday—16 hours later—Lujack was running through signal practice with his mates.

In an opinion handed down by Dr. Caton he will be able to play against Army in Yankee stadium tomorrow.

And from the looks of things, Dr. Caton ought to know whereof he speaks.

He himself called Lujack's recovery "impressive."

Dr. Caton, a slim young man who last saw an Army-Notre Dame game in 1941, before his entry into service, described the treatment given the Irish back merely as "most intensive."

He said there was no voodoo involved.

But, he grinned, there might have been.

Yesterday morning, he said: "I've never spent a night like this one (Wednesday night) in my life. It seems as if every man who ever graduated from Notre Dame, and half again as many who didn't, had to talk to me personally about Lujack's chances of recovery."

Actually, more than 250 long distance phone calls from over the country were placed to Dr. Caton's South Bend residence and to the infirmary.

Offers came from utter strangers, recommending ankle specialists, offering to fly practitioners to Notre Dame at no expense to the university, offering to have Lujack flown to the specialists with all expenses paid.

Dr. Caton didn't take up any of the offers. With Team Trainer Hugh Burns, with ice packs and hot cloths and faith and "intensive treatment," he performed a couple of medical miracles which may spell the difference between victory and defeat on the Yankee stadium sod tomorrow.

And that would be just fine with Dr. Caton.

Host of Tough College Tilts Tomorrow

ARMY-NOTRE DAME FUSS EASILY TOPS PROGRAM

NEW YORK—(INS)—Tomorrow's super-duper gridiron spectacle between Army and Notre Dame has all but obscured a host of other games in which league leads and traditional feuds are involved.

Penn, upset by Princeton last week, will attempt to regain its dominance in the Ivy league by trouncing Columbia. Penn is favored to win this clash at New York by two touchdowns.

Several corking contests are on tap in the South and Southwest. Alabama, the fading Rose Bowl titleholder, is picked to beat a strong Louisiana State eleven, although LSU may be a slight favorite at game time.

Duke is rated a touchdown better than Wake Forest, but an upset may be in the cards here.

Tennessee is rated three touchdowns better than Mississippi. Georgia Tech is favored to beat Navy by two touchdowns, and Rice to defeat Arkansas by about the same margin.

Three close contests are anticipated in the Big Nine. Northwestern is quoted over Indiana by one touchdown; likewise Wisconsin over Iowa, and Minnesota over Purdue.

Southern California is picked to beat California by two touchdowns. In another west coast feature, Rose Bowl-bound UCLA is rated three touchdowns better than Oregon. Stanford is given seven points over Washington.

The Holy Cross-Colgate game is seen as a toss-up. In other eastern games, Harvard is quoted at six points over Dartmouth, Cornell 13 points over Syracuse, and Penn State 14 points over Temple. Yale is quoted at 18 points over Brown.

Other probable winners in the East are Boston College over Georgetown, West Virginia over Fordham, New York university over Lehigh, and Rutgers over Lafayette.

Michigan is favored to trounce Michigan State by four touchdowns. Oklahoma is 14 points over Kansas, Kentucky seven points over Marquette, Tulsa 14 points over the Oklahoma Aggies, and Mississippi State 21 points over Auburn.

Southern Methodist is favored to edge out Texas A. & M. in a tight one, while the Vanderbilt-North Carolina State clash is viewed as a toss-up.

Texas should swamp Baylor, and Ohio State likely will run wild against Pittsburgh. Tulane is rated 13 points better than Clemson.

Tomorrow you'll be glad you waited today...

Waiting for a new motor car isn't exactly the easiest or most pleasant experience in the world. But the saying about patience having its own reward holds doubly true when your patience is rewarded by delivery of a gleaming, new Pontiac "Silver Streak".

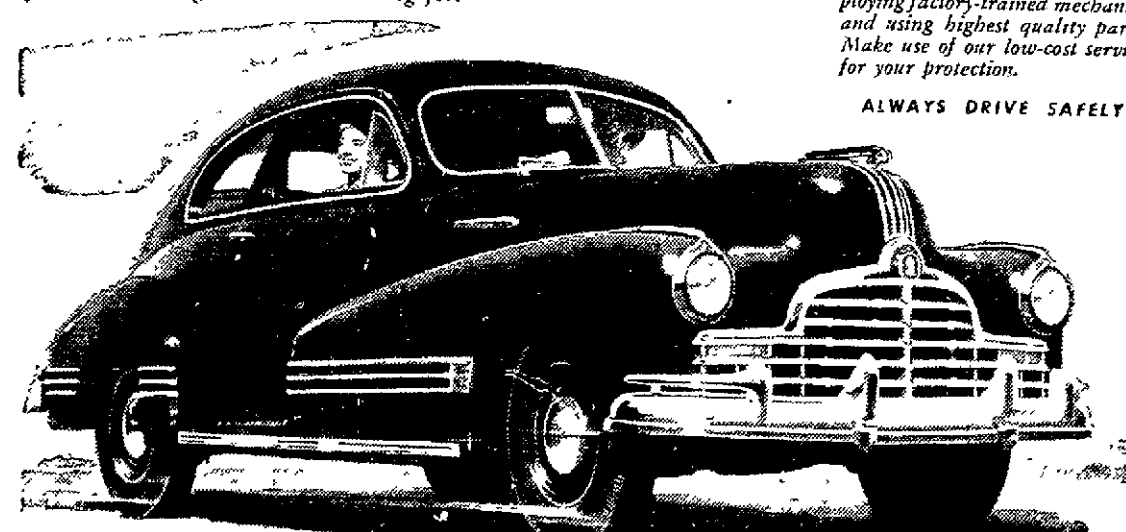

Up to now Pontiac production has been limited for reasons beyond our control. Now production is increasing. As of today, it's still below anticipations. But the trend is definitely encouraging. Which means that your wait is being shortened every day.

And when you do become the proud owner of a new Pontiac, you'll be mighty glad you waited—and your feeling of gladness will grow with every passing month and mile. Because in every way, the new Pontiac measures up to the phrase, "Finest of the Famous Silver Streaks". In dependability and economy it lives up to its great war-won reputation. It looks, handles, rides and feels like the quality car it is. It's a value that will endure over the years—something well worth waiting for!

PRESERVE AND PROTECT YOUR PRESENT CAR

Until you are definitely assured of a new automobile, keep your present car in a safe, satisfactory condition. While we are prepared to service all makes of cars, we are PONTIAC SPECIALISTS—employing factory-trained mechanics and using highest quality parts. Make use of our low-cost service for your protection.

Barclay On Bridge

YOU WOULD pay a higher price for something very valuable than for an ordinary bit of merchandise. By the same token, it is sound to sacrifice more points to a slam contract than you would to prevent a mere game. Failing a game is patently worth being set only 300 points for doubled tricks if the opponents are not vulnerable. 500 if they are vulnerable. Against a small slam the equivalent figures would be much higher, and against a grand slam proportionately more. At that sacrifice contract, East was set four tricks, with one game in the red suits and two in clubs. That cost 700 points. But it was a plenty cheap price to pay. West had heard the powerful opponents cue-bid all three of the hostile suits of hearts, spades and clubs, besides showing an emphatic fit in diamonds, so felt sure the grand slam would be made—an estimate eminently correct. It would have scored for North and South 140 for tricks, plus a game worth approximately 500, plus a grand slam worth 1500—total 2,140 points. The sacrifice, therefore, of 700 points, saved 1440. Against a grand slam vulnerable, a not vulnerable pair could afford to get set 11 tricks doubled.

while taking only two, which would cost 2,100, and against a small slam can afford to be set seven tricks, worth 1300. A vulnerable pair against a vulnerable grand slam can soundly get only seven tricks, worth 2,000, and against a vulnerable small slam in a minor suit only four tricks, worth 1100, or in a major suit or No Trump only five tricks, worth 1400. A not vulnerable pair can afford a set against a not vulnerable grand slam of seven tricks worth 1300 or against a not vulnerable small slam of five tricks, worth 900. A vulnerable pair can afford only a five-trick set for 1400 points against a not vulnerable grand slam and only a three-trick set for 800 points against a not vulnerable small slam.

3—In Memoriam
IN LOVING remembrance of our dear Son and Brother, Russell Prosser, who was killed two years ago this Nov. 8th in Germany.
Blue Star Turned to Gold
His country called him forth to war, and here he left his lonely home. I wept, "Son, you're my Blue Star now, there's none so dear in Heaven's dome."
My Blue Star soon was turned to Gold, When he fell from a field of lead. The blue was changed to stars in the sky. To gold, which says, "He is not dead."
When the red sun sinks in the west, And the stars shine forth in the east, My Son and I see gold up there. Soon as the winter day is done, He gave his all for Freedom's cause! Why should I weep? Why should I cry?
When I miss him by day or night, I seek my Gold Star in the sky. Mr. and Mrs. Marion Prosser and Family.

SUPERMAN

HAVE ANY MORE INCHES ABOUT THE FUTURE?

YES-I SIGHTED SUPERMAN RESCUING THE STEAMER ACTY. CRIMINALS FROM DESTRUCTION... AND SENSED IT WOULD HAPPEN THIS VERY AFTERNOON...

HOW WAS THE STEAMER MENACED AND WHERE?

WHY TELL AND MAKE THINGS EASIER FOR SUPERMAN? HE'S NO BUDDY OF MINE!

BUT FOR THE FIRST TIME I SIGHTED MORE THAN ONE VISION... AND IT A SECOND VISION HAD A SECOND VISION TO DO WITH SUPERMAN.

IN THAT SECOND VISION I SAW THE HORSE 'GALLOPIN' GUS' FINISH FIRST AT THE RACE THIS AFTERNOON!

WOW! ITS FRONT PAGE STUFF! AND WILL HORSE-PLAYERS EAT IT UP!

TERRY & PIRATES

I SAY, LEE, I'M TRULY SORRY I JANE ALLEN'S WORKING ON MY WEDDING HERE HAS THROWN YOUR SOCIAL LIFE WITH HER SO OUT OF KILTER...

OKAY, CRISPIN, FORGET IT...

PLACING SUCH IMPORTANCE ON A BIT OF T AIDE DOES SEEM STUPID AT TIMES, ESPECIALLY WITH THE WAR SO CLOSE IN OUR MINDS...

IT SOUNDS AS IF A FEW OF THESE WENT ON AROUND HERE—WAR OR NO WAR I... YOUR BUSINESS CONTACTS SEEM GOOD AND FRESH...

OH, INDEED! I HAD A VERY LONG TIME TO KEEP THEM STRONG BY CORRESPONDENCE THROUGH MUTUAL AGENTS IN NEUTRAL COUNTRIES...

I THOUGHT SO ALL LONG!... I JUST TOO BAD THE NASTY OLD SHOOTING HAD TO INCONVENIENCE YOU INVOICE BOYS EVEN AS MUCH AS IT DID!

THE BUSINESS LETTERS REALLY SERVED A THERAPEUTIC PURPOSE! AFTER, I LOST MY LEFT ARM AT EL ALAMEN. THE STUPID WOULDN'T HEAL PROPERLY—SO IT WAS GOOD TO HAVE SOMETHING TO PASS THE TIME IN THE HOSPITAL...

GASOLINE ALLEY

I JUST LOVE TO WALK PAST THE AND CLOAT, SKAZZ!

IT TAKES TIME TO REALIZE THAT IT'S ALL OURS!

YES, SIR! EVERY BRICK AND SHINGLE—EVERY TREE AND SHRUB!

WE'RE MERELY PERMITTING MR. WOODCOCK TO STAY THERE. HE HASN'T A THING TO SAY ABOUT IT.

IT'S OUR NEST, OUR CASTLE. OUR OWN PRIVATE ESTATE, OUR DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

AND OUR RESPONSIBILITY. WE CAN'T FORGET THAT.

IRIP KIRBY

MR. KIRBY, I'M BEING WALKED! SOMEONE IS INDICATING AND BREAKUP MY HOME, IF I DON'T MEET HIS TERMS, OF DISCUSSING LOVE LETTERS I NEVER WROTE? (FOGPIES)

AS ONE OF THE NATIONS TOP BAND LEADERS, I CAN'T AFFORD TO KNOW YOUR REPUTATION, ALSO YOUR NOTORIETY AS A LADIES' MAN.

THAT'S A LOTTA MALARKY THEY MAKE A FUSS OVER ME, YES, BUT I'M NOT AS FOOLISH AS TO WRITE LOVE LETTERS!

CHECKS, MOSTLY... AND, OF COURSE, AUTO-GRAPHS!

HM-M. I'LL HELP YOU, MR. RIVERS. BLACKMAIL'S A NASTY RACKET. COME TO MY OFFICE IN THE MORNING.

OH, GOODBY!

PENNY

I SURE HOPE OAKALE WINS THE GAME, PENNY! I'M POSITIVE THEY WILL RUSS.

HOW DO YOU, FATHER SAID KNOW? SO.

I HEARD THE SAME THING AT THE SPORTS SHOP THIS AFTERNOON FROM A PROFESSIONAL...

WHO KNOWS WHAT HE'S TALKING ABOUT!

TILL E

I'LL TRY TO CONTROL MY INDIGNATION, ASK THE REPORTER TO WAIT.

YES, MA'AM.

KINDLY COME INTO THE DRAWING ROOM, I'LL CALL MISS TRINK.

THANK YOU.

SHE BROKE UP MY NERVE! I'M HALF AFRAID I'LL LAY VIOLENT HANDS ON HER——AND HALF AFRAID I WON'T DARE!

MIKEY MOUSE

WE WANT SOME ADVICE!

ER... ARE THE COPS AFTER YOU?

AFTER US? YEAH... WE'RE GOING TO GET OUT D'WHOLE FORCE!

BUT... DO YOU THINK YOU OUGHT TO ENTICEST INFORMATION TO A STRANGER LIKE ME?

WHADDYA MEAN... STRANGER? YOU'RE OUR PAL!

THE GUMPS

OH, MIN! SOMETHING MUST BE WRONG WITH ME! I CAN BARELY GET MY CLOTHES!

MAYBE I'VE BEEN ACCUSING THE WRONG PEOPLE OF OVEREATING—YOU'RE GETTING FAT AS A MOOSE.

NOT AN OUNCE OF FAT—I'M JUST GROWING.

YOU ARE GETTING TALLER AND BRADER—AT YOUR AGE VERY VERY ODD.

OK, MELON-HEAD TIME FOR MAW'S MIRACLE MEDICINE AGAIN.

BLONDIE

BEAT IT, DAISY—I WANT TO LIE DOWN THERE, MYSELF.

IT'S A GOOD THING THAT DOG CAN'T REALLY TALK!

ORPHAN ANNIE

DOUBLIN' AND TWISTIN' IN THESE HILLS TO THROW OFF PURSUIT AND MISS BEEN SEEN BY ANYBODY HAS SLOWED US UP...

BUT WE'RE OUT O' SMOKY HOLLOW, ABOUT—THERE'S THE RIDGE, UP AHEAD...

GEE! I'D SURE GIVE A LOT TO KNOW WHAT HAPPENED BACK THERE—HOPE THEY'RE NOT WORRYIN' ABOUT ME...

DICK TRACY

H'M? THIS IS BULLETPROOF GLASS BEING INSTALLED IN THAT CURRENCY EXCHANGE TRUCK.

IF I COULD CARRY A PIECE OF IT AS A SHIELD—WHAT'S THAT?

SOMEONE WANTS IN.

DON'T MOVE! DON'T MAKE A SOUND OR I'LL—

THE MECHANIC, WHO IS STANDING NEAR THE AUTOMATIC DOOR-OPENER, LEANS BACK. A MECHANISM CLICKS, THE GARAGE DOORS PART.

LIL ABNER

THE NIGHT BEFORE THE RACE

HARRY SLEEPS HAPPILY. SHE CAUGHT HER MATE. LONG AGO!!—HER MATE IS HAPPY, TOO! HE DOESN'T HAVE TO GO THROUGH THAT HORROR AGAIN.

HAIRLESS JOE WAKES UP SCREAMING. HE DREAMT HE WAS CAUGHT BY A GUY WHO HADN'T HAD KIDNAP JOY JUICE IN THE HOUSE.

TO 'HARRYIN' SAM', SADIE HAWKINS DAY IS HARVEST TIME. HE DREAMS HIS FAVORITE DREAM OF A $3.75 WEDDING!

LENA THE HYENA RICES THE FLOOR, EXCITED AT THE PROSPECT OF NABBIN' A HUMAN BEING FOR A MATE—

AND LIL ABNER SLEEPS THE SLEEP OF THE DOOMED.

BRICK BRADFORD

BRAVING THE HAIL OF BRICK'S BULLETS, SEVERAL MADDENED AND DESPERATE WARRIORS GAIN THE CAVERN ENTRANCE.

OH! OH! ONLY A FEW ROUNDS LEFT—ID BETTER BREAK FOR IT!

IF THEY HOLD BACK A MINUTE, I CAN MAKE IT!

JIGGS

KILROY SURE IS A SLIPPERY GUY—HE DRANK UP ALL ME PRIVATE STOCK AND I NEVER KNEW HE WAS IN THE HOUSE.

MAYBE THAT'S HIM, PLAYIN' THE PIANO—IT SOUNDS TOO GOOD TO BE MAGGIE.

OH—IT'S YOU—I THOUGHT IT MIGHT BE KILROY. I'VE BEEN LOOKIN' FOR HIM FOR WEEKS.

I'VE BEEN LOOKIN' FOR A GUY NAMED KILROY FOR YEARS—HE WAS ME FIRST HUSBAND—HE OWES ME TEN YEARS' ALIMONY.

I WONDER IF KILROY HAS ANY BROTHERS.

ABBE AND SLATS

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

A DIGGER'S HANDY TOES

Rattles the Kingfisher has very short legs and very small feet for his size. As he perches on a low stump at the edge of a sand pit, he looked to Peter Rabbit as if he had no legs at all. Just below where Peter was sitting was a hole in the bank. It had been the home in which Rattles and Mrs. Rattles had raised a large family in the spring. Rattles had admitted that he and Mrs. Rattles had dug that hole with their bills and that wasn't hard to believe for those bills are long and stout and very big for the size of their possessors. They look a if they should belong to ex-members of the Heron family.

But when Peter asked how they got the sand out of the hole after loosing it with their big bills, and Rattles had said they kicked it out with their feet, he had had to grin. He just couldn't help it. The idea of expecting him to believe that so much sand could be holes," retorted Rattles. "Show me," demanded Peter. Rattles held out one foot. His leg was so short that he could hardly get it out beyond the feathers far enough for Peter to see it. "Look at those toes," commanded Rattles. Peter stared at the small foot. He counted the toes. There were four as with most birds that perch. One pointed back and the others forward. "What about those toes?" asked Peter. "I don't see anything unusual about those toes." "So you don't see anything unusual about those toes?" said Rattles. "Well, I didn't expect you would. It is strange how some folks never learn to use their eyes. If I couldn't and didn't use my eyes any better than you do, Peter Rabbit, I would be afraid to go out alone. I would so. But perhaps it isn't your fault. Perhaps there is something the matter with your eyes." It was Peter's turn to be indignant. "I would have you to know there is nothing the matter with my eyes. They are perfectly good eyes," he snapped crossly. "Then use them," retorted Rat-les, once more thrusting out a foot. Peter still saw only a small foot with four toes of unequal length. Two of them seemed to be held rather closely together but he didn't think anything of that, merely that Rattles wasn't spreading his toes. "Don't you see anything unusual?" asked Rattles impatiently. "No, I don't," retorted Peter. He also was losing patience. "Look at those two toes that are close together," commanded Rattles. "Well, what about them?" demanded Peter. Rattles looked disgusted. He was. "How in the world you have managed to live so long if you can't use your eyes better than you are doing now I don't understand. Don't you see that those two toes are grown together for half their length?" said he. Peter looked more closely. "So they are," he admitted. "What of it?" "Nothing much, only they give me something with which to kick the sand out when I'm digging a hole," replied Rattles. He sounded disgusted. He was.

MARKET MAKES MODEST GAINS

NEW YORK—(AP)—Irregularly higher price tendencies persisted in today's stock market although buyers still were notably timid.

Thursday's selective advance was extended fractionally at a moderately active opening. Dealings soon slowed but modest improvement predominated near midday.

An early rally in cotton and grain futures was thought to have inspired some further bidding. Another batch of pleasing dividends was helpful. Brokers found customers inclined to caution, however, pending more light on the political and labor pictures.

In the resistant area were Pennsylvania railroad, Baltimore and Ohio, U. S. Steel, Electric Power and Light, American Telephone, Paramount Pictures, Anacosta, United Aircraft, Sears Roebuck and Standard Oil (N.J.). Numerous pivots, including motors, were about unchanged.

Santa Fe dropped two points on an initial 70-share trade, then cut the loss. Laggards were Union Carbide, Texas Co., Western Union "A," U. S. Rubber, General Electric and International Nickel.

Bonds were steady.

SHOLEM ASCH WRITES STORY OF NEW YORK

'East River,' Latest Work of Author of 'Nazarene,' Due at Library Monday.

A patchwork of nationalities and religious struggles and prejudices, tied together by the East River section of New York City is vividly pictured in EAST RIVER, by Sholem Asch, headlining the list of new fiction to be released Monday at the Mansfield Public Library.

EAST RIVER is chiefly the story of the divided household of Mokhe Wolf Davidowsky. Although on a smaller canvas than other novels by this author, the human drama and spiritual issues are quite as significant in their implications.

KING JESUS, by Robert Graves, is a novel based on the life and times of Jesus. Graves' interpretation of the divinity of Jesus will be subject to criticism and debate, but the drama and poetry of his writing and the human and eternal figure of Jesus make the book interesting and worthwhile.

WE ARE BESIEGED, by Barbara Fitzgerald, is a novel of conflicting loyalties in modern Ireland. Caroline Adair is the daughter of an Anglo-Irish family and action of the story is seen through her eyes.

Other fiction includes: MORTGAGE ON LIFE, by E. V. Rieu; COURAGE OF THE NORTH, by Hendryx; DILEMMA FOR DAY, by Cumberland; MYSTERY OF SWORD, by Fish Reef; Upfield, by ALL OF VALOR, Jackson.

GLASS HOUSE OF PREJUDICE, by Dorothy Baruch, is a constructive hard-hitting book describing the causes and results of prejudice toward minority groups in this country. The author, a practicing teacher and psychologist, illustrates her points with a series of true stories. The Break Skylight—The Calvert Laundry offices, 22 East Temple court, were ransacked last night, but nothing was reported missing. Mrs. Jean Wright, bookkeeper, told police today. Police said entry was obtained through a skylight.

Last section is devoted to methods of recognizing prejudice, both in oneself and others and of overcoming it.

BRANDEIS: A FREE MAN'S LIFE, by Alpheus T. Mason, is especially interesting at this time of bitter controversy over Palestine and conflict over capital and labor in all of these vital issues. Brandeis played a major role. This inspiring record of his life from his boyhood, a son of immigrant parents, to the highest judicial rank makes good reading for American citizens.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennett Cerf

THE ONLY hotel in town was so crowded that the famous author on his lecture tour was installed in the bridal suite. When he left, he forgot his umbrella. At the station, he figured he just about had time to go back for it. The room was locked when he got there, however, and a lovely-dovey couple within were making no apparent effort to keep their romancing a secret. Whose 'little mouf' is that? cried the ecstatic bridegroom. "Yours," sighed his bride. Smack! "Whose 'little neck' is that?" "Yours," honey bun. Smack! "Whose 'great big eyes'?" "Yours, all yours." The author could take no more of it. He rattled the doorknob loudly and hollered, "Hey you in there! When you get to an umbrella it's mine!"

When the Florida real estate boom was at its height, many an "investor" paid fabulous sums for property that usually was invisible under six feet of water. One victim ruefully surveyed his worthless acres, and made a bee-line for the promoter who had sold it to him. "You faker," he shouted. "Didn't you tell me that I could grow nuts on that property?" "I did not," said the promoter firmly. "I told you you could go nuts on it."

Mr. M'Carty, life-long resident the time of his death. He leaves three sons, Frank of Ashland R.

British Papers Say Election Won't Change Foreign Policy

LONDON—(AP)—British newspapers commenting on the United States elections argued that the results did not necessarily mean a change in American foreign policy.

Several editorials observed that Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was carrying out foreign policy with bipartisan support. The Times said the results were "everywhere interpreted as a vote of censure of the present administration," and said of President Truman:

"There is nothing in his previous conduct of affairs to suggest that he will refuse to accommodate himself to his circumstances or stand uncompromisingly by the policies which he knows himself unable to enforce."

Although international affairs were not an election issue, the Times said, "a tendency toward the right in both foreign and domestic affairs would be a 'natural consequence'."

PILES ARE NEVER MILD

DANGER IN NEGLECT No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves. Instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down, tired feeling and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

MIRACLE DRUG CAN NOW BE SYNTHESIZED

NEW YORK—(AP)—Penicillin, the most powerful yet safe drug that science has produced, reached a new milestone today.

It can now be synthesized.

That was a step that may result in new, even more powerful types of penicillin—new weapons against disease, possibly tuberculosis and the common cold.

The report of synthetic penicillin was given in the magazine Science, publication of the American Association for the advancement of science by Dr. Vincent Du Vigneaud and a group of collaborators of the department of biochemistry at Cornell University Medical college, New York city.

The fact that science now has the formula of synthetic penicillin does not mean, the biochemists say, that American laboratories can discard equipment now turning out the drug from mold.

Production of the natural penicillin has reached the point where it is available everywhere and can be purchased at reasonable cost.

The result of the new development, Prof. Du Vigneaud points out, will be more work on the remaining mysteries of the drug, such as what is its structure. Once that is determined, then the doors will be open for the preparation of new types of penicillin.

Such was the story of sulfanilamide. Determination of its structure and subsequent synthesis led to such types as sulfathiazole and sulfadiazine, which now are being used to conquer disease.

Scientists have been attempting to synthesize penicillin for years and great sums of money were spent both in this country and in England.

Prof. Du Vigneaud and his associates, including Drs. Frederick H. Carpenter, Robert W. Holley, Arthur H. Livermore and Julian R. Rachele, working at the New York hospital—Cornell medical center, experimented with the chemical compounds that had been recognized by other scientists as being related to the penicillin molecule. They tried different combinations and from one reaction, they discovered that type G-penicillin, or benzyl-penicillin) was being synthesized.

The new product withstood all the tests. It had the same effectiveness against the same bacteria which natural penicillin goes to work on. It also was inactivated by penicillinase, an enzyme that renders penicillin impotent. Thus the isolation and syntheses were proved.

It's better not to expect too much—you're less likely to be disappointed.

After all, football would be a rather dull sort of game if it weren't for the "upsets."

For those who watched him as he progressed through school and into employment, few things are more pleasant than to read: "Home-town boy makes good."

Approach Tax Reductions With Care

WHILE immediate announcement of intended tax cuts—as soon as the Republicans can get to it—is bound to be popular, this must be accompanied by drastic reduction of federal operating costs if a sound taxation program is to be evolved out of the present muddled formula.

The stupendous national debt built up during the past fourteen years places a heavy burden on taxpayers through the next several generations, but obligations of the present generation cannot be disregarded, and any substantial reduction of income taxes at this time might easily prove dangerous rather than helpful.

Whatever can be done along this line without impairing federal credit will be welcomed, and one point that is clearly indicated is that President Truman should not use his veto power to stand in the way of congressional action designed to repair the domestic economy. Tuesday's election was a vote of "non-confidence" in him and his domestic policies—and he will be well advised to accept it as such.

Proposed reduction of the Ohio retail sales tax is an entirely different matter. In fact either a substantial reduction, or elimination, of this tax has been long delayed. The sales tax, some will recall, was enacted a number of years ago as an "emergency" measure, but it made such easy pickings that it has been dragged along year after year, to the enrichment of the state treasury and under a system that penalized consumers greatly in excess of the so-called 3 per cent specified.

If there is to be a reduction in the state sales tax, as promised by Governor-elect Thomas J. Herbert, a better method of collection should also be devised than the stamp system now in vogue, as this offers too great an opportunity for collection of the tax without giving stamps to customers—thus opening the way to withholding the excess over 3 per cent on retail sales. Remember that a 10 per cent tax is paid on 10-cent purchases, and that at two points in the changeover to the next bracket, as much as 100 per cent tax is paid.

Why Veto Power Is Necessary Now

SPEAKING BEFORE the Mansfield Kiwanis club yesterday, Prof. E. I. F. Williams of Heidelberg college, Tiffin, gave a clear and concise explanation of the place of the veto in the United Nations.

Without the veto there just wouldn't be any United Nations, Prof. Williams explained. It was the only way the big powers—particularly Russia—could be sure they would not be forced to do something they opposed or pull out of the organization, thus wrecking it.

Prof. Williams said that in his own opinion the veto was not the best thing, but it was the best thing that could be had now. The veto power means, in effect, that a major power can disagree with other nations and even halt a particular world program without toppling the whole structure of the United Nations.

He urged that, because of its very necessity at present, the veto be viewed for a while with tolerance. He said he believed that it would be exercised less and less as the nations learn to work together.

Entertainment for the Teen-Agers

EXCEPT for those who have conscientious scruples against dancing, as an enjoyable social pastime for children and adults, there is likely to be quite general approval of the experiment being made at Liberty park pavilion—where a teen-age dancing class, under adult supervision, has been started.

The purpose, you understand, is to provide for teen-age entertainment under wholesome surroundings, and the more of this that can be supplied in a city the less likelihood there will be of youngsters frequenting undesirable places and forming habits that will result in so-called "juvenile problems."

Mansfield has been prolific in providing attractive "night spots" for its young people but has been rather negligent in the matter of meeting a need for entertainment and recreational facilities that appeal to boys and girls in the teen-age group.

Passage of the recreation levy will open the way to betterment of this situation, and the Liberty park start-off may, if successful, influence similar activities in other parts of the city.

Where One Vote Makes a Difference

WHILE the official count may show a slight variation, there is something to think about in the one-vote difference between Herbert and Lausche in Mansfield, as appears in the unofficial count.

It's an oddity, of course, that Mansfield voters should have been so evenly divided in their preference for governor, after having given Bricker a majority of almost 2,000 over Huffman for senator, but single votes have quite often determined election results.

Imagine, for instance, what a furor would be created if the Herbert-Lausche difference of one vote—6,508 to 6,507—had occurred in a municipal election for the office of mayor, or some other city official!

It all goes to show that a single vote can be very important—and that no eligible voter should stay away from the polls because of thinking his or her vote "doesn't make any difference."

It was Confucius (500 B. C.) who said: "Men of principle are always bold, but those who are bold are not always men of principle"—and you may wonder at how little "human nature" changes as centuries pass.

Ladies of the WCTU are proclaiming that there is "too much water and raw alcohol in current offerings of whisky"—on which the natural comment would be: "Somebody must have told them."

There's said to be a new chemical that is 4,000 times sweeter than sugar—but reducing the size of a piece of candy proportionately doesn't sound like a good idea.

Word comes that observance of Foot Comfort week has been postponed—but, after all, the old shoes are still quite comfortable.

Election Successes Show Voters Want Competent Public Service

By RAYMOND MOLEY

THE outstanding certainty, as the votes were being cast in our states, was the conceded strength of specific Republicans in six states of the Union. These are governors and former governors John W. Bricker, Raymond E. Baldwin and Edward Martin, running for the U. S. senate in Ohio, Connecticut and Pennsylvania; Governors Thomas E. Dewey and Edward J. Thye, running for reelection in New York and Minnesota; and Governor Earl Warren, at the head of both tickets in California.

The reputation and strength of these men rests on a solid foundation of some years of serious, honest and efficient governments of their states. They have simply been good governors. There are several other states where the same situation prevails, but these men are most prominent.

All of them, except Thye, were elected and some were re-elected during the great Roosevelt ascendancy. Thye succeeded Governor Harold E. Stassen, who had also been preferred in the face of Roosevelt ascendancy in his state.

In this simple fact lies the greatest lesson that we can all derive from this election. It is also the fact that should most deeply impress triumphant Republicans as they face their responsibilities in the two years ahead.

The Roosevelt regime was brought about by an appeal to another and quite different issue. It was an issue of social justice and humanitarianism. It was

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, Nov. 8, 1926.

Mail service was started on Southwestern Interurban line, speeding up delivery between Mansfield and Cleveland.

Neighbors near Ankneytown hushed 500 shocks of corn for Chester Merrin, who was ill. (Nice of them, wasn't it?)

E. W. Loughridge moved to 143 Parkwood boulevard.

Party was given for little Margaret Zeigler, 244 Harker street, on her birthday anniversary.

Community school of leadership training was organized at First Lutheran church, with enrollment of 205.

John Frederick, 89, former Mansfield merchant tailor, died at home of daughter in Cleveland.

Boys Pioneer clubs were being organized in Mansfield grade schools, under supervision of H. M. Caldwell, boys work secretary at Y. M. C. A.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

A treaty designed to protect the seals in the Bering Sea was signed at Washington, D. C., on November 8, 1897, by representatives of the United States, Russia and Japan.

Dave Boone Says:

ANYHOW, the election results did one thing definitely. They proved that there are still a lot of Americans who favor such things as breathing spells, time out between the halves, an occasional look at the compass and a little less of the charge that nobody who belongs to the opposition party is fit to govern.

The ceilings may be off horse sense and "stop, look and listen" signs for a while.

But the thing for every American to remember and be grateful for—win, lose or draw—is that he lives in a country where free elections are possible and where he can decide who's going to stay in the game and who's going to be benched.

Americans Should 'Take Stock' of Their Country and Aid Recovery

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Elections are just a little like wars. After they are over we ought to sit down and take stock of things and see how we can improve the country. I am not at all sure that we have done enough stock-taking lately. Perhaps a lot of us have taken our country too much for granted.

But the boys who were out fighting for their country have been doing a lot of thinking. When you're sitting out in fox-holes or lying in a hospital tent, you have to think; and sometimes I wonder if it wouldn't be a good thing if our more extreme politicians, capitalists and labor leaders were put in just such a position—so they could do more thinking, too.

Along this line, I received a letter the other day from a young marine, John McCulloch of Wooster, Ohio, which struck me as so good that I am going to publish part of it.

"You see," writes John McCulloch, "I never realized before I received my discharge from the marines what a hell of a condition our country is in today. Of course, I ran up against some pretty disgusting examples while in the service, but I thought our government could handle the situation in due time.

"Since I have returned to the states, it is hard for me to comprehend how messed up the situation has become. It isn't necessarily the strikes, black markets, etc., that worry me. But what does worry me is the fact that our government doesn't seem able to cope with the problems.

"Today the word politics is synonymous with graft. People speak the word with disgust, and usually mistrust the men associated with it. Actually, we should be very proud of politics and respect the men connected with it.

Where Fault Is It? "For weeks now I have been pondering and worrying about this dilemma, trying to figure out whose fault it is, and the solution. I have now discovered whose fault it is and that the solution is comparatively simple.

"It is my fault and millions like me. People today are criticizing our whole political set-up and blaming just about everything on President Truman. And yet these people themselves don't do a darn thing about it. They just sit back and complain."

It seems to me that ex-marine John McCulloch in his simple, direct way, hit the nail right on the head. I myself, in this column, have done my share of complaining. I have thrown the spotlight of criticism on a lot of politicians, including President Truman—and deservedly so.

However, it is also important to remember that we have just passed through a five-year period of stirring up millions of people to kill each other, and it's bound to be tough undoing all this hatred.

Furthermore, the job of beating our swords back into plowshares is sometimes tougher than forging the weapons of battle. It's especially tough when everyone drops his tools, doffs his uniform, lays aside his patriotic motives, and expects things to get back to the good old days—without his help.

Don't Blame Washington. As I sit in Washington, watching the ebb and flow of politics and politicians, I find two things depressing. One is the tendency, so eloquently noted by John McCulloch, to blame everything on Washington. The other is the failure of Washington to attract good men.

Even with the best men in the world, however, Washington can't solve all the nation's problems. A lot of those problems come from a factory owner wanting too much profit or a labor union getting too high-handed; or from the fact that all of us have let down a little since the war and are thinking too much about the almighty dollar, rather than about our neighbor whose son was missing in action—and the whole community, at that time, tried to be thoughtful and neighborly. But now we have forgotten that neighbor and have gone on to worrying about meat and new automobiles and other selfish things.

Even were President Truman the most brilliant leader in the world—which he certainly doesn't pretend to be—he couldn't solve a lot of these post-war problems. We have to solve them ourselves. We have to be just as considerate and thoughtful as we were when our neighbor's boy was missing in action; we have to drive just as carefully and help people along the road just as often as we did when gasoline was rationed. In other words, we have to think just a little more about the other fellow; and if we do, we really help our country and ourselves.

Housing Turnover to Follow Job Shifts.

WASHINGTON—In addition to whatever political, economic and philosophical effect it may have on the nation as a whole, Tuesday's Republican landslide will bring about certain specific results peculiar to the nation's capital city.

Not the least of these is the housing situation. When Republican campaigners promised that electing them would help solve the housing problem, they weren't referring particularly to Washington—or if they were, it was with an entirely different meaning.

But the fact remains that the landslide will make things somewhat easier for house-hunting Washingtonians during the weeks and months ahead, even if the new regime doesn't eliminate a single job from the federal payroll.

What will happen will be the biggest turnover of District residents since 1932, and while that turnover is in progress, people on the spot looking for houses and apartments will have a much better chance of success than they've had in years.

Naturally, that will make it slightly rough on the newcomers who are being strangers in town, who have to start scratching from scratch, so to speak. But then, being victors for the first time in nearly a generation, they probably will be able to view the situation with a certain amount of philosophical placidity.

In that regard, it is doubtful if the average taxpayer who has never been able to visit Washington can visualize how really terrific that turnover is going to be.

In the executive or administrative branch of government—despite civil service protection of many positions—the still-surviving habits of the old spoils system tradition will mean the migration of many job-holding men and women.

From the point of view of countless capital citizens, most important local election result was the District plebiscite—in which voters' Washingtonians thundered a reminder to congress that they, too, would like the right to vote.

In the strictly unofficial plebiscite, nearly 170,000 District citizens demanded control of their own city government by a 7-3 majority and national representation from the District by an 11-2 margin.

Drastic difference in the two majorities apparently lay in an extremely touchy point—racial disputes. Due to the capital's high percentage of Negro population, some persons frankly stated they preferred to be ruled by a congressional committee, as now, rather than risk outbursts of racial tension which they feared would result from elections for city government.

But a far greater majority of citizens echoed the revolutionary cry: "No taxation without representation!"

Daily Bible Thought

The Lord shall give thee understanding in all things—11 Tim. 2:7.

Sobering Thoughts for Victorious GOP.

NEW YORK — "Our only restraint is our own self-restraint." Those words were written by the great American, the late Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone, who also happened to be a Republican. Justice Stone was addressing in one of his famous dissents the stubborn conservative majority on the Supreme Court.

That majority, in Stone's interpretation, thwarted the intentions of his congress in rejecting law after law as unconstitutional. They based their decisions not so much on the law as on their own economic predilections. They were out to block the New Deal.

Open warfare between the court and the president followed. The divided powers of government seemed to make stalemate inevitable. That has happened again and again under our constitutional system.

The "ins" are on the way out, carried on one of those almost irresistible tides that seem to govern American politics.

For the Republicans, as they begin to assume power, this should be a sobering moment. Stone's words about restraint should be written up in neon lights on the Capitol dome. Only by the exercise of the greatest self-restraint will our system of divided powers work during the next two crucial years.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey's big majority in New York means he is a formidable contender for the Republican presidential nomination in 1948, even though he is a defeated candidate and the party has never renominated a man once defeated.

It means that the jealousies and rivalries within the GOP will be multiplied and intensified. The Republican party is no harmonious army of the right marching on to ultimate victory. It is almost as torn by factionalism as the Democratic party.

First, there are the rivalries of place and power. The years of waiting have been lean. The prize in 1948 is a rich one. While Senator Robert A. Taft is far out ahead in organization strength and in delegates already nailed down, this does not mean that the other contenders will give way. Rivalries are keen on a lower level. With Republican control of the house, there will be a bitter contest for the offices that go with control. Representative Charles McNary of Ohio, and Representative Charles Hall of Indiana are both zealous contenders for the office of majority leader.

Besides the personal rivalries there are profound differences of belief within the party. Liberal-progressives such as Senator Morse of Oregon, Senator Aiken and his newly elected colleague, Senator Ralph Flanders of Vermont, Senator Tobey of New Hampshire and others cannot be ignored by the ultra-conservatives and reactionaries who will claim the victory as theirs.

The reactionaries are certain to be challenged within their own party, and vigorously. The liberal-progressives remember that the Republican party has other roots than those that connect with big business. They remember Theodore Roosevelt and the men he attracted to his banner; such men as the late Gifford Pinchot, who helped to pioneer the whole conservation movement.

The immediate danger is that the little men with little minds who have waited for this opportunity will take over. They have been re-elected time after time in orthodox Republican districts and now the escalator of seniority has brought them to the top.

If these men throw all caution to the winds in the flush of victory, if their motive is revenge, if their only objective is to push the dock back, then we shall be in serious trouble. Such arrogance and such heedlessness might even jeopardize the bright hopes of the party for 1948.

One thing certainly is true. The opportunity for positive leadership was never greater. But if you judge from the kind of campaign they put on, it is hard to see how such leadership can come from the Republican party.

Army Falls Heir to Lippizzaners, Horses Famed Through Centuries for Intelligence

By HENRY C. NICHOLAS
(By Central Press)
WASHINGTON.—One of the most valuable prizes America has won in the war is the capture of the famous and beautiful Lippizzaners. Horse lovers regard this prize as a greater treasure than the finest collection in all Europe.

These beautiful animals are the oldest and most remarkable breed of horses in the world and had they been destroyed their loss would have been irreparable.

They are second only to the pure bred Arabian in antiquity. Their history is even more glamorous as they are direct descendants of the horses ridden by the knights of the Middle Ages.

This breed of horses is so amazingly intelligent that for 500 years they have been known as the "high school" horses of the world. Horsemen are in agreement that the Lippizzaners are justly entitled to be called superhorses of the animal kingdom.

They cannot run as fast as the thoroughbred, which is bred primarily for the race track, but in every other respect they are vastly superior.

The manner in which these Lippizzaners were captured and thus saved from extinction is in itself a fantastic story. American troops had crossed the Rhine and the Russians were fighting ferociously to reach Berlin ahead of us. Germany was completely demoralized.

While our troops were attacking Monsbach, a Wehrmacht officer approached our lines carrying a white flag. When conducted to the field commanding officer, he said, "A terrible and unbelievable thing has happened."

"We have the finest string of horses in the world, some of which have been bred for many centuries. We hear the Russians have captured some of our stables and are killing and eating our horses."

"However, there is one of our breeding stables the Russians do not know about and we have 350 of our finest horses there. I want to surrender them to you and save their lives."

When these horses were transferred to our lines and our experts examined them and their breeding records, they found that they were indeed some of the finest horses in the world, thoroughbreds which had been taken from Poland, France and Austria and which had been formerly owned by royalty and such noted persons as Baron Rothschild and Aga Khan.

However, what made the eyes of our experts almost pop out of their heads were the famous Lippizzaners, horses which it had been feared had been lost to the world and which had once been ridden by such fabulous knights as Richard the Lion Heart.

In spite of the great shortage of shipping nine of them, including Pluto, the most valuable "high school" stud in the world, were brought to this country.

About the year 1500 the Sultan Abdul Hamid presented two snow white stallions of the finest Arabian breeds to the old Austro-Hungarian monarchy. Later other Arabian stallions of Sultan Soliman were captured, when he besieged Vienna and was beaten back in 1683.

These stallions were bred to the best of the ancient breeds of Andalusians and Neapolitanians in the Karst mountains above Trieste. The result was the remarkable half-breed Lippizzaners, which are most powerful and can carry more weight for a greater distance than any other horse.

One of the granddams of Pluto ran 34 miles, six furlongs, in one hour and 50 minutes carrying 200 pounds. There are other ancestors of Pluto which are said to have even exceeded their incredible record.

Highest Intelligence.

Emperor Charles VI established the renowned Spanish High School Riding academy in Vienna for the further improvement of the breed. Here, over a period of centuries, they were scientifically trained in all the many maneuvers used by medieval knights in tournaments and combat—rearing, side-stepping, pirouetting, prancing, springing and sudden changes of pace.

Only those horses which could meet rigid test were retained. Down through the years these horses developed until they seemed to be almost as intelligent as a man and as affectionate as a child, often following the instructor around like a dog.

When the Germans seized Austria in 1938 they also seized all of these Lippizzaners. But the Germans had never owned any of these horses and found they could not handle them. The prized horses refused to respond to any command of their new owners. In spite of the intelligence and endurance of the Lippizzaners they were virtually discarded by the Germans for war purposes.

The horses can be ridden only by the most skilled horseman who has undergone years of training. They must be handled most delicately and directed, not with reins, but by pressure from the inner leg and calf with an almost imperceptible movement in the seat.

VET 'SQUATTERS' MOVE INTO HOUSES

CHICAGO—(UP)—Defiant veteran "squatters" who moved into a housing project without authorization threatened to stay today despite eviction notices.

Others, however, said they were not sure what their next move would be. The wives of some went when Albert Horn, caretaker of the airport veterans' housing project slipped eviction notices under the doors.

The veterans and their families, many with infant children, moved into about 60 brand new, vacant apartments early this week after taking the keys from the caretaker's office. The apartments had stood vacant for about three weeks because the Chicago Housing Authority said minor repairs were needed.

SEABEES RESOURCEFUL

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(UP)—Trucking service wasn't available and LeRoy F. Knadler had a new, purchased bed on his hands. Knadler, a former Seabee, loaded the bed on a canoe equipped with an outboard motor and chugged up the Susquehanna river to his home in uptown Harrisburg.

It's Like This, Lady! Men Aren't Much Good Anywhere

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(UP)—Lady, if you went to the matrimonial market and fear you brought back a piece of talking hamburger instead of a man, don't be too hard on the poor greaseball.

You may feel with some justice that you made a bad bargain by American standards. Yet consider the masculine lumber that some of your sisters around the world have to put up with—and, lady, be soled.

(My wife, who loves to read and sometimes rewrite over my shoulder, has just said, "Humphph!—some consolation that is!")

Your loving hubby may lack a Hollywood profile, kick the dog occasionally, and file only a one-line income tax return, but chances are he is still a more useful piece of furniture to have around than the celebrated lovers of other lands.

Let's see what mama has to put up with abroad:

British wives complain their husbands are sluggish, inattentive and center their social life around the dart board in their favorite saloon.

"I don't live at 'ome"—I live in "is pub," they wail.

And the good man's "take home" pay—as John L. Lewis calls it—is small to begin with and often ends up on the back of a slow racehorse instead of in the cupboard.

The Frenchman is buoyant as a bubble, loves his children, but is harder to get household money from than a pay telephone. He often has a wandering eye, too, if he catches a few extra francs he spends them on another dame—[the Woolworth Casanova.

German fraus are short-circuiting their ex-supergens by the thousands via the divorce courts. Fritz made a good soldier, but now he wants to loaf and brood and live off what mama can cadge by working for the Americans.

Nix mitt Fritz!
Life is never dull in Italy for women. Not unless you'd find it dull to do all the housework and half the farmwork. One improvement there isn't any more overtime trying to collect a Mussolini bambino bonus.

You wouldn't like it any better in Japan. If the crops fail, hubby might peddle your daughter to a geisha house to keep the rice bowl full. Anyway Japanese men hiss when they talk and sound like a paddleboat when they assault the soup course.

Married life in China has its rough spots, too. You become slave to your mother-in-law, and unless you rate as the number one wife you might as well be playing short-stop for the Athletics. And, of course, you know Chinese gentlemen pick their teeth in public.

Well, that's the field, lady. That hamsprung, hen-badgered American dream boy you're saddled with may leave a lot to the imagination, but he's one Romeo that lays it on the line on payday. And if you need a new thrill he'll stay home and mind the kid while you wait out to the movies and kick up your pulsebeat over a flicker gigolo.

(What's that, dear? Yes, I'll be with you in a minute to help with the dishes.)

For Saturday, November 9.

WHILE there may, surprisingly, develop some affair of importance and worthwhile significance, especially in connection with superiors, employers, influential persons or interested friends, the climax may not reach the culmination desired unless some serious thought, readjustments and sound agreement be taken into account. This major turn in events, because of the element of surprise, emphasizes the importance of careful consideration and a sound slant on future developments.

Those whose birthday it is may be surprised at the sudden presentation of an interesting offer, proposition or gesture of encouragement and friendliness, coming from influential source in either public or private office.

U. S. Strikes Threaten World Economic Starvation, Says Meyer

Full Production Vital to Mankind States International Bank Head

NEW YORK.—(U)—Strikes in the United States are threatening the world with economic starvation and thereby endangering the peace, believes Eugene Meyer, president of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Academy of Political Science in the Hotel Astor yesterday, he called present American labor relations "disastrous."

"I say emphatically," asserted the World bank head, citing the potential effects of a threatened fresh stoppage of coal production, "that the crucial importance of continuous full production for our own welfare and for that of mankind the world over cannot be exaggerated."

"We Americans who but recently showed our sympathy for the people of the world by sharing the products of our fields must now become aware that this economic starvation threatens the winning of the peace."

Meyer, who headed the Federal Reserve Board and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation under Republican administrations and who resigned as publisher of the Washington Post to accept the World bank presidency, told the meeting that "national and world stability is now threatened by a starvation for the materials with which to construct the devastated areas and to develop the economically backward areas."

He said he "had no disposition to allocate the blame for our present disastrous labor relations."

"But I do say with every conviction that's within me," he added, "we must find a way of settling our labor disputes without the disastrous strikes which bring about world starvation in a broader sense than the mere withholding of food."

He said the World bank was "created and organized on the assumption that America even after the pressures of war would maintain a high level of production."

He said the bank should make every effort "to help borrowers

Device Guides Torpedoes to Unseen Target

SHARON, Pa.—(U)—Electric torpedoes that can be fired from 1,000 feet beneath the sea and find their targets through automatic "homing devices" are under planning here, J. K. Hodnette, manager of Westinghouse Electric corporation transoceanic division, announced today.

Hodnette, who was given the navy's special award for development of electric torpedoes during the war, announced that Westinghouse is making contract arrangements with naval ordinance for work on the missiles. He added that a new building, 41 by 412 feet is being built at a cost of $192,000 to house the development work and that a staff of 80 will devote full time to the project.

"Well, fellow carrier pigeons—we are sunk!"

"Westinghouse was the only company to make offensive electrical torpedoes used in combat during World War II," he said. "These torpedoes sank 372 Japanese ships—a total of 1,858,200 tons."

"Near the end of the war, five Japanese ships were sunk by our torpedoes equipped with a 'homing device' that guided them toward the sound of a moving vessel, changing direction of a potential miss by as much as a quarter-mile to make it a hit."

Hodnette said 10,000 units had been made by V-J day, and the speed of the torpedoes had been increased to over 35 miles an hour.

She Hopes for Oil Well But Smells Sewer

HOUSTON, Tex.—(U)—Mrs. Mae Guild decided today that a broken sewer pipe had caused the big hole in her yard that threatened to swallow her home.

"At first we thought we had an oil well," she said. "But after we smelled it we knew what it was."

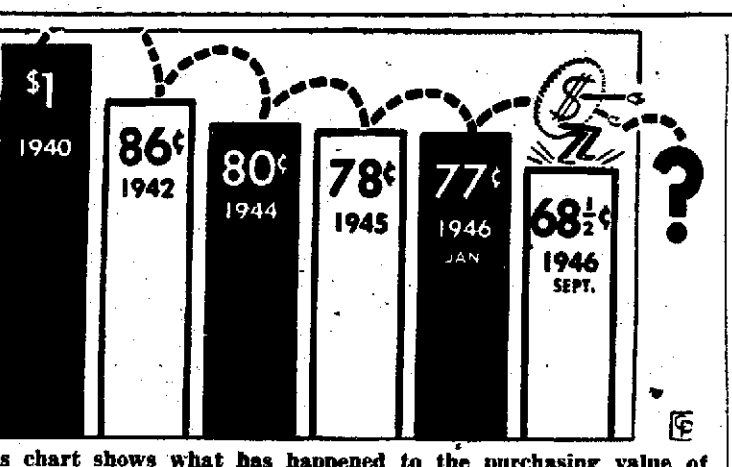

The hole appeared in her yard last week and expanded until today it engulfed four cement foundation blocks of her home and steps and lattice work as well as a good portion of her yard.

Chemists had sought to analyze contents of the watery hole but it remained for Mrs. Guild's nose to find the answer to the ever-growing hole.

"I'm simply exhausted from the odor and all the work," she said. "We've got the house all trussed up to keep it out of the water."
